Highlights

- Extraction of co-movement patterns out of trajectories in a multi-dimensional space
- Unifying extraction of different pattern types from space, time & semantic features
- Implemented in a big-data approach to natively support scalability
- Evaluated in a real-world use case to show its support in decision-making processes